Protection and Advocacy operates four federally mandated advocacy programs and provides information and referral services. Under each of the four advocacy programs, a limited number of individuals whose rights have been violated due to disability may receive representation. P&A uses case acceptance priorities to determine which cases to pursue. P&A services are provided at no cost. P&A also provides disability rights training to consumers, their parents or guardians, and to service providers.

If you are interested in information, training, or representation, please call 1 (800) 372-2988 (Toll-Free and TTY) or (502) 564-2967.

P&A ACTIVITIES

Provide assistance to individuals with disabilities whose rights have been violated.

Provide information and technical assistance to individuals, attorneys, governmental agencies, service providers, and other advocacy organizations.

Provide legal counsel and litigation services to eligible persons and groups who meet the established priorities for the provision of services.

Provide education and training for individuals with disabilities, service providers, and other community members.

Provide information to legislators and appointed officials concerning issues of importance to individuals with disabilities.
